Presidential Words For December 2022

Mount Coot-tha Exhibition

Our exhibition last weekend was a resounding success even with Sunday's post lunch session being washed out by heavy rain. Total sales for the weekend of $19,300 were just short of last year's all-time record of $20,600.

It was gratifying to see the number of members who volunteered for the many tasks involved in running the weekend; thank you. It was also pleasing to see a number of first-time sellers.

Christmas Markets

We have a couple of Christmas Markets coming up. The first is at Bunnings Mt Gravatt on Thursday evening 8 December and the second at the Tarragindi Christmas Markets, Wellers Hill Bowls Club on Sunday morning 11 December. As mentioned in my recent email, we are seeking donations for these markets. Donations can be left in the Auditorium.

Machinery Accreditation

All the nomination forms have been reviewed by our panel and members have been advised of the outcome. The next step is to have the colour codes affixed to name badges. There is a box in the auditorium for collection of badges. If left prior to our Christmas closure on 13 December, they should be ready for pick up when we reopen on 10 January.

The new accreditation system will commence on 10 January. This means that if you haven't been accredited for a particular category of machinery, you will not be able to use that machinery. The colour codes on name badges will enable easy recognition of who is permitted to use equipment within the various categories.

The new mantra/rule at workshops will be "no name badge, no machinery use". It is therefore imperative that you have the codes affixed to your badge asap and that you wear your badge at all workshops. There will be some leniency during the implementation stage, but this will only be for a short time.

This then brings me to another issue - there are a number of active workshop attendees who have not submitted a Machinery Competency Nomination form. To avoid any unpleasant surprises next year, please submit your nomination form as a matter of urgency. To assist, a form is attached to this newsletter.

Competition

A major review of the Competition has been undertaken and there will be some significant changes next year:

Competition Disciplines

As WSQ's activities and classes of items accepted into the competition have both expanded over recent years, a "one size fits all" approach is no longer appropriate. The competition will therefore be split into four disciplines:

- Woodturning
- Woodworking
- Pyrography
- Box Making

Each discipline will, if appropriate, have its own categories and skill levels. A member can hold different skill levels in each of the disciplines.

Categories

Woodturning will be the only discipline at this stage which will have categories. They will be streamlined to:

- A. Turned Bowl – Large (Greater than 200mm diameter)
- B. Turned Bowl – Small (up to 200mm diameter)
- C. Turned Platter or Plate
- D. Turned Vase, Hollow Form, Goblets
- E. Spindle Turning, Pens & Pencils, Turned Christmas Ornaments
- F. Turned Lidded Container
- G. Closed Segmented, Open Segmented or Lattice Form Turning
- H. Sets (Examples include pair of goblets, collection of eggs or fruit, set of coasters, pen & pencil sets, salt & pepper grinders/shakers, etc)
- I. Articles Incorporating Other Work or Materials (Turned)
- J. Other Turned Items

Consideration is also being given to allowing new technology driven techniques in woodturning and/or other disciplines. Details of this category will be advised next year.

Limit of Entries

Entries will be limited to 3 per discipline/category.

Judging Criteria

The following criteria/weightings will apply:

- 40% Workmanship
- 30% Finish (including tool and sanding marks)
- 20% Design
- 10% Degree of Difficulty

Skill Levels

The skill levels will be renamed Introductory, Intermediate and Advanced. A Masters level may be introduced in future years.

Promotion Criteria

Promotion is no longer dependent upon achieving “1st places” but on personal ability/achievement with the following promotion criteria to apply:

- a. Advancement from one level to the next requires the minimum percentage total shown in paragraph b below in two different categories at the current level, in two of the last three competitions. For clarity, the last three competitions means the current and the previous two competitions.
- b. For promotion the percentage total for an item must exceed 70% for promotion to Intermediate or 75% for promotion to Advanced.

The usual “rules” document will be published prior to next year’s competition, but as you know the basic outline, now’s the time to start working on your competition pieces.

Christmas Party

A reminder that our Christmas Party will be held on Saturday 10th December at 12 noon. Cost is $20 per head. Places are filling fast, so if you wish to attend, please note your name on the Auditorium notice board. Alternatively, please contact Mike Dunne at vpresident@wsqld.org.au or on 0410 400 954.

Payment is now due and can be made at the club (cash or card) or by transfer to our bank account. Bank account details are:

Date Claimers for Demonstrations and Show & Tell Forums

With only one Demonstration left to go in 2022, I would like to thank those who gave up their time on the first Saturday of the month to benefit our members.

I would particularly like to thank our members John Carney, Dan Woodward and Ian Symes for 'volunteering' to participate in our demonstration program. I very much appreciated your willingness to share your skills with our members.

To Reg Weber, a very big thank you for the hands-on Chuck Maintenance Clinic that he conducted. It was very well received by those who attended and added new and vital skills to the personal toolkit of our members.

We had two visiting demonstrators during the year – Ken Rays from Redcliffe who fascinated us with Thread-chasing and Steve Schuhmacher from Bayside who gave us a new understanding of Inside Out turning using 2 pieces of timber. My sincere thanks to these gentlemen who came to Pine St in the spirit of collegial sharing that is so much part of the Woodturning fraternity.

And finally, a huge thank you to Jason Heaton of Natural Edge Timber at Albion, who invited us to a resin workshop at his premises. It was a great hands-on workshop, much enjoyed by all those who attended.

And finally, I must thank the 'Zoom boys', who each month make it possible for members to view the demonstration in the comfort of their own home. To Ian Symes, John Carney, Alwyn Clark and Brian Crease sincere thanks for your organization of the Zoom program and your expertise with the technology.

Clean Up and Christmas Closure

We will be having a major clean up, tidy up and throw out on Friday 9 December, commencing at 8am. Trailers and utes are required to transport the discarded items to the tip.

Our final workshop session for the year will be on Tuesday 13 December. The workshop will finish at 11am so we can have a final quick clean up.

Workshops and normal timetable will recommence on Tuesday 10 January.

Chain Saw Course

Several months ago, we advertised a chain saw course. There have been some delays in organising the course, but it has now been locked in for Saturday 21st January at our Pine St premises. This is a full day course. The cost is funded by a grant.

Please let me know by 10 December (even if you previously expressed interest) if you would like to do the course. I can be contacted at president@wsqld.org.au or on 0414 661 395.

Basic Life Support Training

CPR and AED (Automated External Defibrillator)

Like to learn to use an AED defibrillator or the techniques of CPR, or practice the skills you already have. Come along to WSQ, 19 Pine St, Greenslopes on Thursday 8 December 2022 at 9.00 a.m.

It has been several years since the last First Aid course was offered to members. Many, especially your volunteer convenors, have long expressed a desire to update their knowledge to assist you should the need arise. Research of legislation identified that as a volunteer organisation, WSQ was not required to hold First Aid Certificates. As your club desires to achieve positive benefits and take care of its members, a training session for convenors was arranged and completed. It was noted at the time that the more members that know and have these skills, the better we will be as a community. After missing out on several grants we were finally successful with The Queensland Government's Community Gambling Benefit fund. Two new defibrillators and First Aid cabinets (one for each workshop) and associated training equipment have been purchased.

So, on Thursday 8 December come along to see and learn how to use the equipment.

The session will consist of a run through of the equipment and a demonstration of its use. Those present will then run through the process step by step with the training equipment. As with the convenors session the trainer is volunteering her time.

Your trainer will be a registered nurse currently employed as an Emergency Department Nurse Educator within Queensland Health, and is an accredited ACCN (Australian College of Critical Care Nurses) Resuscitation Instructor.

There is a list on the notice board to place your name. If you are unable to put your name on the list but wish to attend the Basic Life support training, please contact John Carney 0449 011759.

Bunnings Sausage Sizzle

Our first sausage sizzle for 2023 will be on Australia Day, 26 January. A "Volunteers List" will be put on the auditorium notice board. It's a great opportunity for those members who normally aren't available on a weekend to volunteer for one and take the load off the "usual few".

Show & Tell Forum - 19 November 2022

It was an interesting discussion around the pieces brought into our Forum.

In a follow-up to Steve Schuhmacher's Demonstration on 5 November, Peter Wyer brought along an interesting 'bowl' inspired by the Inside Out technique using two pieces of timber. Usually, when we speak of Inside Out turning, we think of using 4 pieces of timber bound at the ends. Peter's 'bowl' was a very creative interpretation of this technique, and he used his pyrography skills to great advantage to further enhance the piece of New Guinea Rosewood that he chose to use. The addition of two small turned feet added a usable dimension to the piece. Unfortunately, the photographs do not do this piece justice.

Peter also brought along one of his latest laminated Christmas decorations – just to get us into the spirit of the Season - and another example from his fast-growing menagerie – this time a snail.

Keith Greenland brought in 2 bowls – not just ordinary bowls, but beautifully decorated bowls using quite different techniques. In the bowl on the left, Keith layered the bottom with blue 'pebbles' so that the koi (fish) that he carefully constructed within the resin would stand out. He then created a layer of clear resin to give the impression of water. In the bowl on the right he has used his painting skill to portray a cherry tree in blossom.

Greenslopes State School Demonstration

Monday the 21 November, WSQ hosted the 45 children of the graduating class of 2022. They were accompanied by their Arts teacher Ms Shannon Wilson. Members that assisted on the morning were Alwyn Clark, Bob Kennedy, Don McMillan with John Carney doing the demonstrating.

The Phil Harris Auditorium was pleasantly full of young expectant faces. They were given a quick history of woodturning showing and explaining our pole lathe, followed by the treadle lathe, and our Vicmarc 240.

Alwyn, with our new AV setup, competently kept the camera control on the TV monitors. Bob was able to do a commentary on some of the aspects of what they were seeing. This helped maintain the students' interest. Three styles of Christmas trees were successfully demonstrated with no catches or missiles launched from the lathe. After roughing down only the skew was used to create the trees. The students peppered us with questions throughout the session.

John Carney at the Lathe

A short discussion on logs/trees ensued and Don brought out some fine examples from the shop. The students were then broken into three groups and given a guided tour of WSQ's facility. There was a presentation of a gift crafted by Terry Green to Ms Wilson, and each student received a tree. Bob and John were presented with two plant pots. The pots were decorated with ceramic flowers from the art group and filled with plants by the garden group.

All concerned had a very enjoyable morning and I would like to thank all those members, especially the new turners who took the opportunity to practice some skills, for their contribution of Christmas trees for the event. Looking forward to doing it again next year.

Inside Out Turning Demonstration

On the morning of Saturday November 5, a good number of members and friends attended WSQ Hall to see a demonstration of Inside Out Turning by Steve Schuhmacher from the Bayside Woodturners and Woodcrafters Club.

In his introductory comments Steve advised that the project he would demonstrate was developed by the late Neil Scobie. Neil was a very talented and innovative woodturner whose skills were recognised internationally.

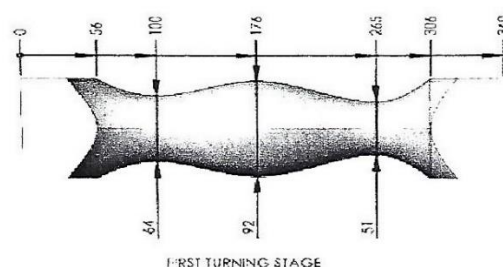

The project requires a custom-made jig capable of holding 2 timber blanks measuring 420mm x 100mm x 50mm. See below.

The blanks are attached to each other with substantial screws and then fitted into the jig which is mounted on the lathe using a scroll chuck and a cup centre in the tailstock, as shown above. Steve suggested the use of hot melt glue for additional support.

Steve clearly marked the "no go" areas at each end with pink chalk. He turned the blanks to round using a large spindle gouge. He advised that a roughing gouge could be used. Next, he marked the high and low points with a pencil as per the following, and used a parting tool and calipers to set the depths to those shown in the diagram below.

Steve then used his large spindle gouge to remove the waste and produce the desired shape. He emphasised the need to be always turning downhill. This is shown below.

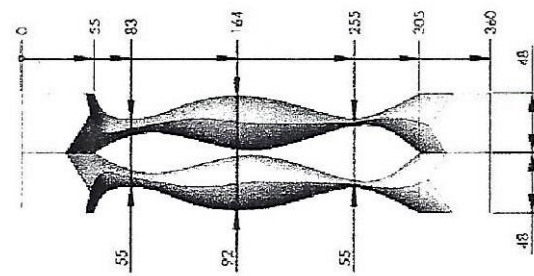

When he was happy with the shape and finish, he used strips of sandpaper to refine the finish.

The next stage of the project was to remove the blank from the lathe, reverse the 2 blanks and screw them together again. These are refitted into the jig and mounted on the lathe as before.

Next, he marked the high and low points with a pencil and used a parting tool and calipers to set the depths as per the following diagram. He turned the second profile as for the first. Steve emphasised the need for caution as the piece becomes more vulnerable, and the profile becomes more difficult. As before, he used strips of sandpaper to refine the surface.

SECOND TURNING STAGE

The Turned Items (Sorry about the fluro light)

The blanks were removed from the lathe and jig. Steve ran one of the items through a bandsaw to remove surplus material at the ends and refine its appearance. He put a number of past projects on the table shown below to demonstrate some of the designs he has been developing.

A Table Full of Project Ideas

The audience was impressed by the demonstration. Most of us had never seen these techniques before and were impressed by Steve's skill. He received a hearty round of appreciative applause.

John Byrne and I would like to express our appreciation and gratitude to those members who have loaned us some of their wonderful, turned items to use in our library displays for another year. Time to Refresh Our Library Displays

It's been 2 years since we last refreshed our library display stock. That means that our stock has been displayed to all of our selected libraries. Our stock is between 80-90 items. These items are divided between John Byrne (Northside) and myself (Southside).

When WSQ returns on Tuesday 10 January 2023 John and I will be returning the current stock to their donors, leaving us with no stock. We need to receive about 90 new turned items on or about that date so we can put our new displays in place in early February. Please help us to continue this service by loaning us some turned items for 2 years. We will look after them and return them to you after 2 years. The library staff regularly tell us about the positive feedback they receive from their clients about our displays.

They don't need to be competition winning standard. Although some of that standard are greatly appreciated by us and the libraries staff and clients. If it is suitable to sell at Mt Coot-tha, for instance, it is good enough for the library displays. Please loan us some suitable items.
